THE SECRET IS OUT, NUTRITION DRIVES MOTOCROSS SUCCESS

Pullman, WA – June 13, 2005 –

Each year a company develops new products to enhance the performance of dirt bikes. Imagine if a company built a product to enhance the performance of the athlete. Xtreme Sports Supplements, LLC has taken the holeshot and applied cutting edge technology and build a state of the art nutritional supplement called Pump-X™.

For years, arm pump has plagued motocross riders of every age and skill level. Designed by nutrition professionals, Pump-X™ was specifically built with the motocross athlete in mind. Knowing that endurance and strength are keys to success, Pump-X™ provides athletes with an increased oxygen supply which may flush out lactic acid, eliminate fatigue, subdue arm pump, and improve recovery time.

Riders worldwide constantly modify their bike with technical equipment, thinking that they may gain an edge over their competitors. However, many times a mechanical problem is not what hinders the outcome of a race. Pump-X™ was designed to flush out lactic acid, enhance glucose utilization, and improve recovery time. This allows riders longer training sessions and increased performance on race day.

Moreover, the all natural formula provides consistent results. Many energy supplements or drinks contain caffeine, sugar, or blood thinning agents, which may be detrimental to an athlete's performance. Pump-X™ is reliable in that users will not experience caffeine, sugar, or steroid crashes, therefore keeping an edge over the competition.

“Pump-X™ is an all natural formula specifically created to provide energy at the cellular level, which increases oxygenation helping to prevent cramping associated with arm pump.” - Dr. Gayle Eversole of Creating Health Institute.

Have you filled your body with oxygen lately? If not, join the Pump-X™ team and top of your body's oxygen tank.
